

Model of Human Occupation

Archived List Serv Discussion

MOHO for Children

April 21, 2008

Hello,

I am a new member of this interesting listserv. I have been working with children in Brazil and I am wondering if there is a model of human occupation specific for children, designed for describing this period of life in depth.

Thanks for any advice you can share!

Laura

April 21, 2008

Dear Laura-

MOHO is a set of concepts that can be applied to the practice of OT with any group of clients of any age. Check out the 4th edition of the MOHO text- each chapter includes pediatric examples. Also, cruise previous list serv posting for discussions related to MOHO and peds at http://www.moho.uic.edu/archived_list_serv.html

Finally, there are 5 pediatric specific MOHO assessments, and other MOHO assessments have also been used with children and youth, so there are many tools that help you apply MOHO in practice (COSA, SCOPE- to be released July 08- PIPs, SSI, PVQ, OTPAL, ACIS, Role Checklist, Interest Checklist, etc)

Best of luck to you-
Jessica

April 21, 2008

Hi,

Yes, there is. It is the SCOPE. You can get info from www.mohoc.uic.edu

Boa sorte!
Madonna

April 22, 2008

Hello Laura-

I'm working in Chile with children between 4 to 12 years, using the MOHO in a Mental Health context.

I'm using some of the assessments translated in Spanish, and I hope to research that.
My Portuguese is so better than my bad English, if you want...